Sweet Of The Brow. When W. O. Vaughn and Sam Hataway get together there is sure to be some interesting reminiscing. They met Saturday forenoon and Mr. Hataway told about the following incident:

He said he and his son came to town one day during the Hoover depression and listed a color-donkey trying to borrow five dollars from Ridgeway Boyd. It seems that the Negro had worked for Mr. Boyd but their connection had been terminated. Mr. Boyd told him he didn't owe him anything and wasn't going to let him have any five dollars. The former employee was very insistent and used as an argument that Mr. Boyd had been instrumental in his getting married.

Mr. Boyd would not know "how come?" The Negro replied: "Mr. Boyd, you know you told me to find some good gal and marry her and settle down and save my money. I done what you told me, 'cept I ain't saved no money. Now I need five dollars mighty bad." Mr. Hataway said Mr. Boyd couldn't resist such pleading and shelled out five dollars.

Mr. Hataway said he never saw anybody sweat like that Negro did while he was pleading for the five dollars, and the perspiration rolled off his head and down both sides of his face in great streams. On their way home, Mr. Hataway's son asked his father, "Daddy, what made that boy sweat that way?" Mr. Hataway answered, "Son, the Good Books says, 'thou shalt sweat by the sweat of the brow.' That boy was earning that five dollars by the sweat of his brow."

FARM TRUCKS INCREASE. Almost one-third of the nation's trucks are now in use on farms and ranches. The Department of Agriculture points out that farm trucks have increased to 1,800,000 or 61 per cent since the war began. There are also 4,800,000 cars and 3,000,000 tractors.

PLAN TO ESTABLISH GRAZING FOR HOGS. It's not too early to make plans for the necessary acreage for hog raising on farms and ranches. The local county agent can help you with your plans.

Outstanding Success

Gardner Conner, former Elba boy now residing in Montgomery visited relatives in Elba Sunday. He is employed by Nolin Brothers and his wife is Secretary-Treasurer of that company.

The Nolin brothers, Beaumont and A. C., are New Brockton products who have made good in a big way. About twelve years ago they started a small refrigerator and radio shop in Montgomery and now they have one of the biggest plants of that kind in the state. Their meteoric rise has been an outstanding story of success.

Mr. Bud Conner, formerly an Elba baseball star, is still an ardent baseball fan and takes pride in the success of the Montgomery Rebels, who are leading their league by an 11 game margin. He used to delight Elba fans with his long distance hitting and his first base play.

Shade Ruins Field

Isiah Maddox notifies The Clipper that he is having no part in Ran McCollough's and George Morris' get-rich scheme of selling high-priced "bull weevil catches" at $25 a pair. He says Ran and George, like a lot of other cotton farmers who want to raise cotton without work, would do better if they would stick to the old poisoning methods and let the "catcher" bug (thumb) go.

Mr. Maddox says he has some big shade trees in his yard which are mighty pretty and have provided a lot of comfort for himself and his family, but they have almost ruined crops clear to the back side of his fields. He said shade trees, work and good crops don't go together.

Lt. Crook Completes Medical Training

Elba Fishermen Get Big Ones Over Holiday Week-end

Judge and Mrs. J. A. Carnley and Mr. and Mrs. Terry Kendrick took a boat ride on the Governor's yacht, "Duke" at Mobile last week. Whenever the Judge gets close to a body of water he cannot resist the urge to go fishing. The captain filled him up with tackle, bait, and showed him where to fish. In almost no time he hooked and landed a 10 pound blackfish. He caught two more about the same size in a period of about 15 minutes. Fishing was over then, however because the Judge couldn't get another bite.

The Elba party were the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fleetwood Carnley, who are spending a two week vacation on the golf.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lindsey report a thrilling fishing excursion to Panama, Costa Rica. Lindsey said they fished off the jetties and caught ten fish which weighed fifty pounds. Mrs. Lindsey catching seven fish. He said his wife was so thrilled he had to throw her bait away to get her to come home.

John H. Oliver and ten companions went fishing near Camp Walton and caught a large number of grouper and other kind of fish. The prize catch went to Mr. Oliver who landed a 34 lb. grouper measuring 47 inches long. He is employed in the engine room of the Elba Ice and Cold Storage Co. and the huge fish was on exhibition in the company's chilling room where it was viewed by a number of fish fans.

Luther Williams Killed By Elba Officer Thursday

Luther E. Williams, 46 year old carpenter of West Elba, was fatally shot last Thursday night by police officer P. G. Lightner while in his automobile near the flowing well at the southwest corner of the Elba Public Square.

Lightner reported that while making his rounds Thursday night, he found Mr. Williams and Joe Bryan in an intoxicated condition at Stephens' Cafe on North Troy Highway about a mile north of town. He reports that he told they would have to leave and urged them to go home, which they agreed to do and left.

Mr. Lightner said he went up town and pretty soon Williams and Bryan drove up a parked car near the flowing well. He told them he would have to arrest them on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Bryan admitted and got out of the car, but Williams refused to do so and resisted arrest. Lightner says that while he was attempting to put Williams in the car, Williams made a threat and reached behind him as if to obtain some kind of a weapon, whereupon he shot Williams in the back.

The bullet struck Williams under the right arm and passed through his body. Williams died within a few minutes. Lightner took Bryan to the county jail and notified Deputy Sheriff D. B. Addison, who lodged Bryan in a jail. Lightner and Addison then notified Sheriff H. D. Tillman. After the trip visited the scene of the shooting, Williams body was taken to Hayes Funeral Home and Officer Lightner was lodged in jail, where he has been confined awaiting a preliminary hearing, which, according to Solicitor Paul, has been set for Friday morning at ten o'clock. Bryan was released Friday.

Several eye witnesses of the shooting have been examined, but their testimony has not been made public.

Mr. Williams was born in Culman County May 13, 1902, but had resided in Elba most of his life and was known as an expert carpenter.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cloah Alene Taylor Williams; one son, Ed Williams; two daughters, Mrs. Louise Bess Williams and Mrs. Cupidean Smith; five brothers, Jim Gaines, Will, Oscar and George Williams; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Allen, Mrs. Julia Garret and Mrs. Ollie Snow; one granddaughter.

Palbearers were: Shelby Morrow, W. H. Morrow, Coston Morrow, Jim Morrow, Felix Morrow and J. D. Morrow.

It is said to be one of the longest funeral processions ever seen in Coffee County.

Interment was in Pine Level cemetery with Hayes Funeral Home in charge.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon, July 3, at Pine Level Church, conducted by Rev. William Plant.

Elba Loses At Brundidge

The Elba Redbirds played an exhibition game at Brundidge Tuesday night against the second place Brundidge team in the Southeast Alabama Amateur League. It was the Bird's first game under the lights, but that couldn't have been the reason for the ignominious defeat, as they lost by a score of 10 to 2 in the eighth inning when batter Paul Wise was weakened and pitched out of the box. Billy Morrow relieved him, but could not quiet the riot of his by the Brundidge sluggers. Costly misuses contributed to the one-sided final results of Brundidge 10 — Elba 8.

Assembly Of God Revival Underway

The revival meeting which began last night at the Assembly of God Church last Thursday is being well attended and much interest is being manifested.

Rev. P. D. Greel, radio pastor of station WIRB, Enterprise, is doing the preaching and his sermons are interesting and inspirational. The pastor, Rev. Sasser, announces that the meeting will continue through the latter part of the week and invite everybody to attend these meetings.

Everybody to attend these meetings.

The City Fathers contracted last night to install parking meters on a trial basis. During the discussion of the subject it was decided that the meters would aid in two of the city's most vexing problems — traffic congestion and dwindling finances.

Traffic congestion has come back to the city as a problem, and it has been decided that meters are the most logical answer.

One of the reasons for the complexity of the problem is that so many people are vitally concerned with it. Most merchants feel that the success of the business they operate depends largely on the availability of parking in front of their places of business.

The meters are planned to help the customer find a place to park while he does his shopping. They will also bring in revenue which the city treasurer needs. It is believed that the meters will cause people who park in town to leave their cars further from the business area and leave more parking space for people who want to shop and move. A larger turn over in traffic will result in more convenience for all concerned.

This move is expected to particularly help the farmer who comes to town and finds all parking spaces taken, and has to park a great distance from the point he expects to conduct his business.

The meters are to be installed only in front of business houses. None will be put on the square on the side next to the courthouse. The meters will be more than a block from the square. Plenty of room has been left for people who park for any length of time so long as it is in free parking space. Prevention of any day parking in front of business will be prevented.

Loading zones are being provided in each block so trucks can park to load and unload. The practice of stopping in the street to load and unload will be stopped.

Garrett Building New Home For Fords

John M. Garrett has finally admitted that he is building a modernly equipped plant for the Ford Motor Co. He has already begun construction on the building across the street to the north from Taylor Warehouse Co. It will front 125 ft. on Buford Street and have a depth of 100 ft. It is being constructed of high grade cinder blocks and the display rooms will be equipped with large plate glass windows.

Mr. Garrett has visited plants of Ford and other agencies in Alabama, Georgia, and Florida and is combining the most desirable features of all of them. He states that he expects the cost of the new plant to be around $400,000, but that his aim is to have one of the most completely equipped and most serviceable Ford plants in South Alabama.

The new building is being erected on the old Garrett home site, the residence having been moved to the northeast corner of the lot, where a new home has been constructed for his mother, Mrs. J. M. Garrett. The pretty lawn, shrubbery and flowers for which the Garrett home had become noted, is also included in the new home site.

Mr. Garrett hopes to have the new plant ready for occupancy by the first of September. The plant is too extensive for an attempt to describe it in this column, but enough can be said to assure us it will be an addition that the city of Elba and Mr. Garrett can well be proud of.

Will Be Installed On Trial Basis For Six Month Period

Parking Meters

According to an announcement made today by the city officials, Elba is to have parking meters in the near future. The meters are to be placed only in front of business houses. The parking around the square on the courthouse side and places more than a block away from the square will not be affected.

We do not like parking meters even on a trial basis, but we must agree that Elba has to have some kind of traffic regulations. Trucks unloading in the middle of the street double parking and other violations of traffic regulations make driving in Elba hazardous as well as inconvenient. However, we would like to see the condition remedied without the use of meters if possible.

We, as well as other people, have been guilty of parking in front of our place of business and leaving our cars there all day. This practice makes it hard for people who want to trade in Elba to find a place to park and is one of the leading causes for the city's decision to install the meters.

Convenience is the object of the move, parking meters can hardly be called a convenience. In some cases they are a necessary evil. Often it is as hard to dig up a nickel or a penny as it is to find a parking place under the present set-up. The amount involved is small and of little consequence, but a man with only a ten dollar bill is likely to encounter more trouble finding change with which to feed the meter than he used to have finding a place to park. Then, too, it's just against human nature for us to enjoy paying for something we are accustomed to getting for nothing.

Since meters are to be installed, the mayor and councilmen seem to have hit on the least offensive plan possible. Only the places directly in front of stores are involved; everybody who can get to the square can park there for free as long as they want to. Those of us who park uptown regularly will have to park away from the busy section, a courtesy we should show our customers anyway.

As repulsive as the parking meter plan is, it does have a little merit. Maybe during the six months trial period we can develop better parking habits and have the meters removed at the end of the trial period. We do believe the meters are going to be satisfactory and are glad the officials took the precaution of getting them on a trial basis at no cost to the city. If they aren't worth more than we think they are going to be this will prove to have been a wise move.

Red Cross

The Red Cross is curtailing their office hours here. This move has not been prompted by a lack of work but by the fact that the recent fund drive fell short and didn't net enough cash to carry on in the customary manner.

Doubtless some inconvenience will be experienced as a result of this move, but Mrs. Gussie Hutchison is making an effort to relieve the situation as much as possible. In case of any emergency she urges all persons to call her at her home. In addition to this she is contributing one day each week to office duty in addition to the two scheduled by the directors.

Mrs. Hutchison has done a good job with the Red Cross on their evident desire to continue to help people in a fine gesture.

Hospital Meeting

Monday night is the time for the meeting to discuss the hospital problem in Elba. There can be little doubt that Elba needs a hospital of some kind but there can arise a lot of controversy about any such project. This project affects all people in Elba and all people should help decide it. Come up to the meeting Monday night and voice your views concerning the matter. Good ideas are not worth anything if they come too late to be used. Now is the time for us all to get together on this project — before it gets started.

Pretty weather is fine for crops and baseball games. Too bad weather won't remedy what ails the courthouse too.

SHORT STORY

Understanding Always Helps

ANNETTE VICTORIN

Ardeith Haines listened as the band played at the Fair. The time was gay but not for her. Frank had been listening too, at the other end of the field. They had quarreled. They should have been together, holding hands, not apart nursing anger. Was it fair if she was angry? Why? Frank had to blow up when she hinted at his extravagance? She was only thinking of their future and of the house they dreamed of owning.

"That morning she had found him in the garage," she answered, stubbornly. "I'm going, but I'm going alone." And Frank had said it made Frank dash out of the house and slam the door.

Suddenly there was a faint and Mr. Getty, master of ceremonies, announced loudly: "This is the moment you have been waiting for. For weeks we were fine-tuning the community for the happiest married couple in Elba. Here they are, Mr. and Mrs. James Pratt. Married twenty-five years and happily so. Mr. Pratt was holding his wife's hands and looking down into her face. Mrs. Pratt was beaming. Ardeith looked over at Frank and he was staring straight ahead.

Mr. Getty talked into the mike. "We can't wait any longer. Let's see this happy couple." He showed them with gifts: furniture, appliances and a car. As Ardeith watched them walk off, she wondered about their recipe for happiness. Twenty-five years surely Mrs. Pratt would be glad to help out a broken-hearted woman.

The next morning was Sunday. Frank was broadfoot in silence and disappeared into the garage. Ardeith walked over to his house. It wasn't a long ride. She was surprised to find the Pratt's house smothered in bushes and trees. It certainly symbolized happiness. A dream house. She ran up the steps with a light heart. If she could hear the door, walking around, she heard loud voices in the basement.

"Is that so?" yelled Mrs. Pratt. There was a blasting noise and Ardeith heard falling glass. Then another voice. "How in the blazes was I supposed to know you were the pan for that?" More crashes. "My aim is as good as yours," the first voice screamed. "If you crave to throw, I'll throw something, too."

Later on when Ardeith had been invited in, Mrs. Pratt said: "So you came to me for advice?" She patted Ardeith's shoulder and said: "Perhaps I can give you some at that." She offered Ardeith some home-made cookies. "We're happy. Quarrels don't matter; every normal couple has them. But you can't change a husband. You've got to accept his shortcomings as he must accept yours. There isn't any recipe for happiness. But you can overlook many things in life."

When Ardeith got home Frank was still in the garage. She went straight to him. "I'm sorry about the glass, Frank. I'm an awful tightwad."

Frank's eyes brightened up like sparklers. He reached to a shelf. "I got you this at the Fair," he said, handing her a huge bow-decked box of candy. It looked awfully expensive, but Ardeith remembered about the overlooking part Mrs. Pratt had mentioned, so all she did was to look into Frank's eyes.

McCorvey Charges Fraud In Phenix City Voting

State Democratic chairman G. T. McCorvey stated last week that fraud had been committed regarding voting at Beat 1, Box 1, in Phenix City during the June 1 runoff election, according to State Supreme Court Justice Lucien Gardner.

McCorvey said he believed fraudulent actions had kept him from getting a single vote in this particular voting locale and in several other Russell County boxes. He added, however, that he had no intention of contesting the election in which he was ousted out by Atty. Gen. A. A. Carmichael in the delegate-at-large race.

Circuit Judgeship Given DeBardeladen

Gov. Folsom has announced the appointment of W. D. DeBardeladen, Anniston, to Alabama's seventh Judicial Circuit. He will succeed late Judge Lamar Field.

An Anniston city attorney and former campaign manager for Elbert Booser in the last gubernatorial race, DeBardeladen will serve until the general election rolls around in 1950.

The seventh Judicial circuit comprises Cullman, Calhoun and Talladega Counties.

Cotton Damaged When 2, 4-D Drifts Onto It

When leaves on their cotton stalks become long, narrow and frazzled, farmers may think it is the result of a new disease.

O. N. Andrews, API extension cotton improvement specialist says not to get excited. The cotton has been damaged by one of the weed killers known as 2, 4-D. He says to check and you'll find that a nearby lawn, ditch bank, pasture, right-of-way, or some area was recently sprayed or dusted with some kind of weed killer.

Andrews says he has received cotton stalks from several counties which show that small areas of cotton are suffering from 2, 4-D injury.

Therefore, he urges users of weed killers to take all precautions necessary to prevent drifting when applying the material. Some cases have been reported where the dust or spray drifted over 500 yards. When 2, 4-D is used near cotton or other susceptible plants, Andrews says it should be applied on a still day. "It is advisable to use a boom hood to prevent drift," he adds, spring.

BOILER MARKETING INFORMATION GIVEN

Broiler producers should make marketing arrangements for the birds several days before they are ready to sell is the advice given by John P. Weeks, API extension specialist in poultry marketing. This action will help speed a high-quality bird to the consumer.

"Another tip," says Weeks "is to load and haul broilers to market in the early morning. This helps to reduce shrinkage."

ALABAMA AHEAD

Applications for federal marketing service last year were received from 203 one-variety Alabama cotton communities and 176,592 samples were classed. Bill Andrews, extension cotton specialist at API, said this week that Alabama led all other states in this work.

LOWER GRAIN, HIGHER HOGS

Since lower prices for feed grains and higher prices for live hogs are predicted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, now is the time to start planning to convert home-grown corn into hogs in late winter and early spring.

Kennedy Appointed Assistant Editor Of Extension Service

Bill Kennedy has been named assistant editor of the Extension Service, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Director P. O. Davis announced this week. Kennedy was formerly assistant county agent of this county.

Kennedy was graduated from API in 1942 in Agricultural Education and immediately entered the army. He served in a Field Artillery battalion in Italy and Germany.

In 1946 he joined the Extension Service in Chambers County and came from there to Coffee County.

Spray Cows With DDT For More Milk and Meat

Farmers who make a practice of spraying their dairy and beef animals with DDT say there is hardly any job that pays so well. Many farmers report increased milk sales when cows are free from flies and others tell of beef gaining faster.

"Spraying with DDT will make the animals more comfortable, get them in better shape for winter, and aid in control of many diseases," explains W. H. Gregory, extension livestock specialist. "I suspect that it also aids in the control of screw worms," he adds.

Mix one pound of wettable DDT powder in four gallons of water to prepare the spray, county agents advise.

4-H CAMP, PICNICS

Over 60,000 Alabama 4-H boys and girls will be on camps or all day picnics this summer. They will have supervised recreation and extensive leadership courses.

FALL GARDEN

Where the fall garden is to be planted, the land should be planted two months before planting time. Harrow or drag well just after plowing and again after each rain, or often enough to keep down all weeds and grass.

WINTER LEGUMES

Winter legumes turned last spring yielded a big part in boosting corn yields according to county agents. They add that farmers should make plans now to plant as many acres as possible in one or more of these crops.

Farmer Veterans To Visit Wiregrass Experiment Station

3500 on-farm veteran farmers accompanied by their 200 veteran vocational agriculture teachers will visit Wiregrass Experiment Station between July 6th and August 24th, according to L. L. Sellers, Associate supervisor of Agricultural Education.

Mr. Sellers said that about 150 will visit the station each day. J. B. Wilson, superintendent of the station and his assistants will show these farmers over the station. At the same time they will explain the latest experiments being carried out and explain the results found. In this way the work being carried out at Wiregrass Station in finding new and improved methods in farming will be carried back to the farms in these various counties and put into practice.

Other farmers will be brought to the station by regular vocational agriculture teachers and county agents during this same period.

ALABAMA HIGHLIGHTS

John T. Morgan and Edmund Pettus could hardly have paralleled their lives more had they been identical twins. Both were born in the early 1820's. Both were brigadier generals in the Confederate Army—appointed to that rank in 1863. Both were paroled by the Federals in May, 1865. Both made their homes in Selma after the war. They served as United States senators at the same time. Prior to their entrance to public offices both had practiced law. Both died in office in the same year, 1907. Both are buried in Live Oak cemetery in Selma.

Check tire pressures when the tires are cool. Heat can make as much as five pounds difference in pressures.

"Never Too Old for Church School" Says Alabama Title-holder

Forest Home, Ala.—Andrew Van-Stabler, 97 years old, the oldest Methodist Sunday school student, is given recognition by denominational headquarters. Mr. Van-Stabler has been a member and regular attendant of Forest Home Church and Sunday school for 41 years.

The presentation of a copy of the Salmian's "Head of Christ" is made in behalf of the church's publishing house by Van Lazenby, superintendent of the church school.

Similar awards are being made in other states in connection with the May "Crusade for Christ" stress on the values and importance of adult attendance.

Your life-long loyalty will inspire the 7,450 schools of our Church in their effort to interest older people," Mr. Van-Stabler was told in an informal citation from the director of the department of Christian Education of Adults, Dr. M. Leo Rippy, of Nashville, Tenn.

Colbert county was, then it was taken in Franklin to determine whether a repeal of the Colbert County was the shortest of any in the history of the state—approximately nine months.

By taking territory from Franklin county, the legislature, in 1867 formed Colbert, but on Nov. 29 of the same year it was abolished by a constitutional convention, and the territory was restored to Franklin. During the next session, the Republican dominated legislature ordered all Colbert books, papers and county funds to be turned over to the Franklin Probate Judge.

By order of the new legislature, which convened in 1869, a poll

Conceit county's name is definitely of Indian origin but there is some controversy as to the meaning. Some authorities hold that Conceit means "land of calm," while there are others who maintain that it was the Indians word for "polecats head"

Alabama furnished the Confederacy with 38 generals during the Civil War. Of this number, eight were killed in action. None of the Alabamians fell in their home state but were killed on the battlefields of Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Mississippi.

PEANUT OUTLOOK FOR 1948

It has been announced from Washington that the 1948 peanut crop will be supported by the government at 90% of parity as of July 15, 1948. The base grades shall be Runners with 65% SMK, not over 1% damage, and Spanish with 70% SMK, not over 1% damage. The grading rules will be the same as last year.

While we do not know yet exactly what parity will be on July 15th, this figure was $240.00 on May 15th of this year. It is reasonable to believe that parity will be about the same on July 15th. This would mean a producer price of $195.00 per ton for base grade runners and $215 per ton for base grade Spanish. These prices are $10-$12 higher than last year due to the rise in parity.

PRICES

For your information we show below a comparison of the price per ton received last year against what you might expect this year, assuming that parity will not change a great deal before July 15th. These prices are not official:

YOUR BEST INVESTMENT NOW --- SULPHUR DUST

- The prices are higher—Can you match this with a higher yield? Look at the premiums for high quality—Do you want some of this extra money
- Can you afford NOT to dust your peanuts with Sulphur? It has been definitely proven by experiment stations and reliable farmers that sulphur dust properly applied will give you a minimum increase of 20% more peanuts when harvested.
- Most farmers state that sulphur dust produces enough increase in hay yield to pay for the cost of dusting.
- Sulphur is cheap—around 2½¢ a pound. If you dust your crop four times, using 20 pounds per acre on each application, the cost of material will be $2.00 per acre. Compare this cost with what you stand to profit by an increase in yield of only 200 pounds on this acre.
- For any of your insecticide requirements—cotton, corn, peanuts or other crops—See any Greenwood Products Company dealer. If there is not a dealer near you, write us a card and we will send our representative to see you.
